TURKEY GIVES ALLIES CHANCE AT HUN FLEET

Quick Attack on German Black Sea Fleet By British Expected

OPEN THE DARDANELLES

Terms Said To Mean Practically Unconditional Surrender

Paris, Nov. 1.—In laying down her terms, on terms which amount practically to unconditional surrender, Turkey has agreed to open up the Dardanelles and Bosphorus immediately to the allies, and a quick attack on the German fleet in the Black sea is expected.

Gen. Townshend Carries Plea. The announcement of Turkey's surrender was made in the chamber of deputies this afternoon by Admiral Leygues, French minister of marine.

"Premier Clemenceau has been detained at Versailles," the admiral said, as he addressed the deputies. "The inter-allied superior war council charged me to make, in the name of the government, the following declaration:

"A few days ago Gen Townshend was freed to go to inform the British admiral, commanding in the Aegean sea, that the Turkish government asked that negotiations be opened with a view to conclusion of an armistice between Turkey and the allies.

Armistice Quickly Signed. "Rear Admiral Calthorpe replied that if the Turkish government sent regularly accredited plenipotentiaries he had the necessary powers to inform them of the conditions under which the allies would consent to cease hostilities and that he had the power to sign on behalf of the allies an armistice based on these conditions.

"The Turkish plenipotentiaries arrived at Mudros at the beginning of this week. The armistice was signed last night by Rear Admiral Calthorpe on behalf of the allies, and it became effective this noon.

Some of the Terms. "It is impossible to publish the complete terms, but they include: "Free passage of the allied fleets through the Dardanelles to the Black sea.

"Occupation of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles forts as necessary to guarantee the security of this passage.

Must Return Prisoners. "The immediate release and return of all allied prisoners of war."

Gen. Townshend was commander of the British Mesopotamian force, which surrendered at Kut-el-Amara on April 29, 1916. Gen. Townshend was sent as a prisoner to an island in the sea of Marmora.

May Enter Constantinople. London, Oct. 31.—The occupation of Constantinople by the allies is expected momentarily as the result of the signing of an armistice by the Turkish government. The terms of armistice, it was learned authoritatively tonight, include the complete laying down of arms by the Turkish army and submission to Gen. Allenby, generalissimo in the Palestine.

Turkey's definite proposals of peace followed the defeats sustained by her armies in Palestine and Mesopotamia and the collapse of Bulgaria, which left her open to attack on another frontier and thus not unexpected, although the Turk in making a bargain is in the habit of waiting for the other side to make an offer.

Great Britain, whose troops have taken a major part in the overthrow of the Ottoman forces, naturally is most interested, but it is expected the final peace proposals will be concurred in by all the allied nations who are at war with Turkey. It is expected that all territorial questions will be left to the peace conference.

Some uneasiness is expressed by the newspapers over a report that

ITALY REFUSES AUSTRIAN PLEA FOR ARMISTICE

General Diaz Prefers To Drive Enemy From the Italian Soil

OFFER CAME TOO LATE

Mobs Loot Stores In Budapest—Revolt Tears Monarchy

Italian Army Headquarters, Wednesday, Oct. 30, 8 p. m.—(By Associated Press.)—In answer to Austria's announcement that she was ready to evacuate Italian territory Italy has officially replied that the offer has come too late. It is assumed the Italians will endeavor to drive the Austro-Hungarians from Italian soil before an armistice can be signed.

Gen. Diaz, the Italian commander in chief, has issued the following bulletin to his troops:

"Soldiers, forward! In Italy's name we will place the wreath of victory on the tombs of our glorious dead. Forward! Our immortal country calls!"

To Demobilize Armies? Copenhagen, Oct. 31.—All foreign territories occupied by the Austrian armies will be deserted within a few days, after which the armies will be demobilized, according to a Vienna dispatch received here today.

Mobs Loot Stores. Amsterdam, Oct. 31.—Grave rioting broke out at Budapest on Wednesday, according to news reaching here today from the Hungarian capital. Mobs looted the stores and attacked the banks, which have limited payments to 100 crowns.

Sanguinary fighting is going on at Agram, the capital of Croatia-Slavonia, according to a private message received here. Some of the goldiers at Agram did not join the revolutionaries.

Facing Complete Anarchy. Conditions in the interior of Austria-Hungary virtually preclude a continuance of fighting. The railways necessary for the maintenance of the military forces of the dual monarchy have become utterly disorganized.

All communication between Agram, Fiume, Budapest and Vienna has been interrupted and the railway communications between Berlin and Vienna have been cut.

The monarchy is faced with complete internal anarchy.

Free the Slovenes. Bern, Oct. 31.—The Hungarian diet, at a joint meeting, yesterday adopted a motion declaring that the constitutional relations between Hungary and Dalmatia, Slovenia, and Fiume had ceased to exist, according to the Hungarian Correspondence Bureau. The motion also declares that the relations between Croatia and Austria had been severed. The constitution of a new independent state (in Hungary) will be determined by a constituent assembly.

OBJECTIONS AND ANSWERS

OBJECTIONS TO A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION ANSWERED
Objection often given—Federal constitution is older than the Illinois constitution. We do not need a new federal constitution, why a new one for Illinois?

Answer—Federal constitution defines only general powers of federal government while the present constitution of Illinois seeks to regulate the state government to the smallest particular. For instance, it contains detailed provisions as to the government of Cook county, which has a population eight times as large as that of Illinois. Legislation depends upon existing conditions and conditions change. If Illinois is to meet the changes and development caused by war, she must have a new constitution.

Another objection offered—Dangerous to call a convention because it might be controlled by faddists and reformers.

Answer—Why fight for the principle of democracy if we are afraid to trust it in our own state? The constitutional convention merely drafts the document but the people must adopt or reject it.

Objection—Wait until the war is over. This is no time to consider constitutional convention.

Answer—The question is: Shall we have a constitutional convention? This must be answered November 5, 1918. If the people don't answer YES, it will take another long fight to induce the legislature to give the people another chance to vote on the question. If we do say YES, the legislature has power to postpone the call until after the war. Governor Lowden has said: "In my opinion no public service that can be performed by anyone who can not go to war is more patriotic than to help carry the convention proposition at the coming election." Voting for the constitutional convention is fundamental patriotism.

MORRIS ROSBROOK ATTENDED FUNERAL OF DIXON BOY KILLED IN FRANCE.

He writes: The band is being used as a burial detail and as I know a little about the work they appointed me to look after the essential details. I am very willing to do it as that work is very important. One of the boys from home was killed in action the other day. Everything was taken care of as well as conditions allow. When I come back I can tell that family everything about it. I wrote on the cross the state and city he lived in. I know the town and cemetery he was buried in. He was killed in action October 4, 1918 and you will know about it by this time. I can mention no names. His father is the Clipper Lawn Mower man.

CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS OPEN SAY OFFICIALS

South Side Schools Will Open Monday—To Examine the Pupils

CHURCHES TO RE-OPEN

Churches Asked To Have Doors and Windows Open—Short Services

The churches of Dixon will be open tomorrow and the schools on the south side, at least, will commence Monday. It is likely that all "flu" restrictions will be removed very shortly.

Commissioner A. B. Whitcombe, commissioner of public health and safety, announced this morning that the churches of the city would be open Sunday morning for a brief service.

Open Air Services. It is suggested that during the church services in Dixon Sunday the churches should do as they are doing in other cities, leave all doors and windows open, while the congregation keeps on all coats and wraps, confine the service to 45 minutes, and bar all "coughers and sneezers." No one who has a cold or who is apt to spread influenza germs should attend church, or any other public gathering.

South Side Schools. It is announced that the public schools on the south side of the river will open next week, and extraordinary precautions will be taken to prevent the spread of influenza among the students.

Have Examinations. Steps are being taken to organize proper medical and nursing supervision of the schools in order that a re-commencement may be made on Monday morning, Nov. 4.

Come In Relays. On account of the difficulty in securing nurses, the physical examination of all the pupils will be spread over a period of two days. Therefore the various schools will convene at

Allies Pursuing Routed Austrians Have Taken Countless Prisoners and Wild Retreat Continues—Are Moving Toward the Tagliamento River—Austrian Internal Situation Even Worse Than That of Armies At Front

AUSTRIAN ARMIES ARE COMPLETELY SHATTERED

BULLETIN

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 31 (Delayed).—Military insurrectionists have occupied both Vienna and Budapest, according to Berlin newspapers. The populations and the troops have acclaimed a republic.

ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR SUMMARY

By Associated Press Leased Wire

The great Teutonic alliance, which for four years has carried on the greatest war in history and which at times seemed destined to be successful, has crumbled. Bulgaria and Turkey have surrendered. Austria, with anarchy reigning all over the empire, is begging for peace. Germany is anxiously awaiting announcement of the terms of the allies.

In Germany the true state of affairs is almost unknown, but enough reports have come from neutral nations to indicate that there is a serious crisis in the history of the empire.

AUSTRIAN ARMIES COMPLETELY SHATTERED

The Austrian armies, shattered by the blows of the Italians, British and French, are fleeing pell-mell on a front of more than 100 miles from the Renta river east and south to the Adriatic. Apparently the enemy has lost all power of resistance on the important sectors of the front. Countless numbers of prisoners have been taken.

HAIG AGAIN TAKES UP BATTLE

Field Marshal Haig has again taken up the offensive south of Valenciennes and reports that his troops are making good progress early today.

On the French and American fronts east and west of the Meuse only the artillery is active.

MOVING ON THE TAGLIAMENTO

East of the Piave river the allied armies are marching rapidly toward the Tagliamento in pursuit of the fleeing Austrians. The formidable enemy defense bastions around Monte Grappa have been broken by the allies and the Austrian retirement is hurried in the region between the Brenta and the Piave. Northeast of Monte Grappa the Italians have forced their way through Quero gorge and are moving up the Piave valley towards Belluno, further enlarging the wedge between the Austrian armies in Veleia and those in the mountains.

INTERNAL SITUATION EVEN WORSE

The Austro-Hungarian internal situation is as bad if not worse than that of the armies on the Italian front. Count Michael Karolyi announces the institution of a republic in Budapest after a successful revolution, and Arch Duke Joseph, representative of the emperor, has left the city.

Emperor Charles, in departing from Vienna, it is reported, insisted that the authorities hand over the government to the new power without resistance.

During the turmoil in Budapest, Count Tisza, former Hungarian premier, was assassinated by a soldier.

There is no further report on the progress of the plea of Austria-Hungary for an armistice. The details of the terms given Turkey are still largely undisclosed.

Reports from the interior of Germany are meagre,

London, Nov. 1.—After the proclamation for a republic was issued in Budapest Arch-Duke Joseph, representative of the emperor, left the city, says a Zurich dispatch.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 1.—The Americans drove the Germans from the village of Briulles on the west bank of the Meuse in yesterday's fighting north of Verdun. General Pershing's evening communique for Thursday says there was lively artillery action on the whole front during the day.

Would Compel Kaiser To Quit

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Copenhagen, Nov. 1.—Rumors that Emperor William has abdicated are persistent, says the Berlin Vossische Zeitung in Thursday's issue.

The newspaper adds that the question of the emperor's abdication was the question at issue in the latest meeting of the war cabinet and states that former Vice-Chancellor Delbrueck has left for the front in an important mission for Chancellor Maximilian.

It is generally supposed, the newspaper says, that Dr. Delbrueck will present the emperor with abdication documents.

ILLINOIS' OPPORTUNITY

November 5th marks Illinois' inevitable opportunity to modernize its basic laws.

Inevitable because the question must be voted upon November 5, 1918, as ordered by the Fifth General Assembly, in accordance with Article XIV, of the Constitution of Illinois.

A Rare Opportunity because for over thirty years, leading citizens, interested in the welfare of the state, have struggled to get this resolution through the legislature. The difficulty was to secure the necessary two-thirds vote in both houses. Most measures require only a majority vote.

To Modernize because the present constitution passed in 1870, is archaic and inflexible, has not kept progress with the age, and does not meet present requirements.

The constitution is the Basic Law because it is the fundamental law of the state with which all laws enacted by the legislature must be in keeping.

HALLOWE'EN RATHER QUIET IN THIS CITY

Gangs Were Rounded Up By Patrol Wagon and Herded In Police Station

AUTOS TAKEN BY BOYS

Hallowe'en in Dixon passed quietly and, compared to other years, was extremely tame. Young America in Dixon respected property and the rights of others more completely than ever before. The local police department is especially gratified with the behavior of the youngsters.

Only one serious depredation occurred. A group of seven young men appropriated the Ford car owned by Elmer Grant which was standing in front of the Busby home on East McKinley street and drove it to the driveway of the John Herbst home, where they abandoned it. They damaged the lighting system of the car, breaking some of the wires, etc. They were apprehended by the police and brought to the station where they confessed and paid Mr. Grant for the damage they had done, which settled the affair, Mr. Grant refusing to prosecute.

Police Were Busy.

Chief VanBibber had a very efficient organization in operation last night. The city patrol wagon spent the night cruising about the town, and wherever a gang of boys was found, they were all herded into "the wagon" and taken to the police station on general principles, whether they were committing depredations at the time or not. At one time there were 28 boys held in the station. They were kept a while and then sent home, one at a time and in different directions. The plan worked very well and was effective in breaking up the gangs.

In some localities petty depredations were committed, wagons were hauled around, etc., but no serious damage was reported, other than the taking of the automobile.

In connection with the automobile affair, Chief VanBibber warned the boys that tampering with an automobile is a serious offense in this state and punishable by a heavy penalty.

WILL DRIVE IN ON GERMANY FROM EAST

NOTHING TO PREVENT SHIPS GOING UP DANUBE AND INVADING GERMANY.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Nov. 1.—An allied attack on Germany from the east was forecast by George Barnes, member of the British cabinet, in a speech at the American Officers' club in London, in which he said:

"An armistice with Turkey might have been signed earlier, but we were holding Turkey on a strong."

He said that the British had been assembling ships at the mouth of the Dardanelles for some time and that he understood that the vessels had already started through the Dardanelles.

"There is now nothing to prevent the fleet from entering the Black Sea," said Mr. Barnes, "and going up the Danube to Germany's back door, and if Germany defends herself she must divide her remaining forces between her west front and her back door, at which we will soon be knocking."

The demonstration commenced in the forenoon with a meeting of the students, who were joined by workmen in front of the parliament building. President Binghofer, of the National council, in a speech, declared that the National government would take over the administration Thursday.

"But without the Hapsburgs," shouted the crowd. Officials in uniform called upon the soldiers and officers to remove the imperial cockades from their uniforms. They were obeyed with enthusiasm. The imperial standard flying before the parliament building was hauled down by President Gross, of the Austrian lower house.

BREAKING UP A COLD.
Diet plays quite an important part in "breaking up" a cold. For the first few days physicians generally advise a light laxative diet of low fuel value, letting hot lemonade or orangeade, broths, or gruels with crisp, toast, baked potatoes, the chief articles of diet. This is followed with a normal diet and then as soon as the cold seems to be "broken," a diet of higher fuel value than usual, so as to aid the body in recovering. Here are some menus for such meals from the United States Food Administration, Illinois Educational Division:

Breakfast.

MRS. CLAYBORNE ARRIVES; RUTH AND BRIAN MEET HER

CHAPTER LXXXIII.

The next day Ruth was visibly happy and excited. "Something's happened! that fool husband of hers has been promising something; or doing something to make her happy," Arthur Mandel said to himself.

He was soon to know. "Mr. Mandel, I am going to ask a favor," Ruth said during a lull in the morning's business.

"It is granted," he smiled at her. "Wait until you know what it is," she returned. Her voice carried a joyous lilt. "I want to remain at home all day Saturday, please, unless you need me for something important."

"No, indeed! but may I ask what it is that is going to happen on Saturday? You look so happy. No one has left you a great fortune, have they, so making you leave me altogether?"

"Oh, no; my aunt, Mrs. Clayborne, who mothered me always, is coming." Then, impelled by the interest in his eyes fixed upon her, she added: "You know she wouldn't come because I displeased her by taking a position. She is a little old-fashioned in her ideas of what is proper for a woman to do! and while she has written me regularly, she has refused to visit me because of my work."

"No wonder you want Saturday. Don't you want Monday, as well?"

"No thank you. She may as well get accustomed to the idea of having a working woman for a niece. But I thought it would be rather lonely if I left her tomorrow, as she does not get in until seven o'clock to-night."

"How would this do for a quickly-conceived plan? You work only mornings while she is here. Then you can lunch and shop and matinee together."

"That would be lovely! but—do you think you can spare me? She said in her letter she would only remain a few days."

"Didn't I propose it?" He was pleased that he could give her so much pleasure as he evidently had by his thoughtful arrangement. "I am going to ask something more."

"Very well. It is also granted." "If Aunt Louisa will—she may refuse, may I bring her into the shop, some day, and let her see that my work isn't—degrading?" she had paused for a word, and they both smiled when she found one.

"I shall be delighted! and if she doesn't quite disapprove of the place, and so be prejudiced against the proprietor, perhaps you will allow me the pleasure of showing my respect by taking you both to lunch." "That is being altogether too kind," Ruth objected, but her eyes shone. It would be delightful for her aunt to be entertained even for one meal by a man who knew so well how to do things.

"It will be kind to me," he returned. "But we must not think too much about it! Your aunt may refuse to have anything to do with me or mine," he indicated the shop.

"She would not if she knew you." The words were spoken without thought, and Ruth blushed violently as she realized that perhaps Mandel would think they meant more than she had intended. But with his usual sang froid, he bowed and replied:

"I hope she will be persuaded."

Ruth was delighted with the plan he had outlined for her. Her aunt never had been an early riser. Rachel would take her breakfast to her room long after she and Brian had left the house. Then her aunt would slowly dress—as was her custom—and amuse herself by reading, or taking a short walk until luncheon time. Then, too, she would have Rachel with her, and though Ruth knew the old negress would be questioned she really had no fear she would tell anything that would hurt her.

Dinner was postponed that night until seven-thirty. Brian came home at the usual time and "illuminated" as he called it.

"When a man's wife's relatives visit him, it's up to him to put his best foot forward," he laughingly remarked as he commenced to shave. "You're a dear to think of it!" Ruth replied.

Just then the bell rang and some flowers were delivered to Rachel.

"Oh, Brian! how thoughtful!" Ruth exclaimed delighted, she had opened the box and then ran to kiss him.

"Be careful there!" he grumbled. "You'll make me cut myself." The little apartment had quite a festive air as they left for the train. The very best linen and dishes had been used to make the table attractive; and the deep crimson dahlias gave just the touch the dining room always needed—always "responded to," as Ruth expressed it.

The train was on time and Mrs. Clayborne was pleased to be very loving toward Ruth; very gracious to Brian. Ruth consequently bubbled over with enthusiasm.

"Here we are!" she said to her aunt as the cab stopped at their door. "I do hope you will love my home."

YOUNG FOLKS' PARTY—
Little Miss Alice Powell entertained her friends with an attractive Hal-lowe'en party last evening.

KIDDIES' PARTY—
Miss Irma Slaughter entertained most delightfully last evening with a "Kiddies'" party the following young ladies: Misses Gladys Jones, Henrietta Florscheutz, Lulu Hill, Irma Brown, Gladys Kenage, Anna Marie Worthington, Charlotte Campbell, Helen Vinton, Margaret McTague, Leota Rice and Goldie Brier-ton. In spite of the number of young ladies present, there was no dearth of "young men." In fact it was stated that, though there were few in army costume, each girl had plenty of partners for the dancing which was one of the pleasures of the evening. All the mystic symbols of Hal-lowe'en, black cats, witches, etc. were used in the attractive decorations and tempting refreshments.

WITH MRS. TENNANT—
Mrs. Anna Heagy, of Aurora, is here, the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. H. Tennant.

LETTER FROM J. MILLER—
County Treasurer J. E. Moyer has recently received a letter from Jacob Miller, who is with the Field Remount Squadron, A. E. F., in France. He states that he is getting along well, likes his work and thinks France is a wonderful country. He described interestingly a recent visit to Paris.

How Acid-Stomach Wrecks Health of Millions

Many people make the mistake of thinking that acid-stomach—superstardity as the doctors call it—merely means an occasional attack of indigestion, bloating, belching, sour, gassy stomach, or some other such minor ailment quickly remedied—or will cure it—self—and leave no serious after effects. As a matter of fact superacidity is responsible for a long train of serious ailments that cause awful suffering and sometimes baffle the best medical skill. It is a well established fact that many cases of chronic stomach trouble, anemia, stomatitis, gastritis, rheumatism, gout, lumbago, cirrhosis of the liver, auto-intoxication, dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, intestinal ulcer, cancer of the stomach, and frequently valvular heart trouble and heart failure, can be traced directly to an acid-stomach. This is not at all surprising when you consider that even the acid formed in the mouth from fermentation of bits of food lodged in the teeth—an acid that is actually tasteless—is yet powerful enough to eat through the hard enamel of the teeth and decay them. Is it any wonder, then, that an excess amount of acid in the stomach causes so much misery, undermines the strength and wrecks the health and happiness of so many people? Is it not a fact, within the range of your own observation, that nine people out of ten are victims of acid-stomach?

If you ever hope to be well and strong you must get rid of that excess acid. Nothing is gained by taking medicines which merely stimulate and give one a false sense of strength and that leave the excess acid still in the stomach. You must depend upon your food for your strength—and unless you keep your stomach free from excess acid, pure, sweet and strong, it cannot properly digest food; your whole body suffers. What you want is relief—yes—and here is the way—absolutely guaranteed—you take no chance. It's been tested tens of thousands of times with universal success. Go to your drugist and get just one package of EATONIC, a wonderful preparation that will literally wipe the excess acidity out of your stomach. The results obtained are nothing short of marvelous. Almost instantly it relieves that painful, puffed up feeling after eating, belching, heartburn, sour stomach, etc. Makes the stomach feel cool and comfortable. If you need this help it's your own fault. If you suffer another day. A big box of EATONIC Tablets costs only 50c so don't fail to get a box from your drugist today. You'll like them—they're good to take—just like a bit of candy. Take EATONIC for one week and then if you are not satisfied with the results, tell your drugist so and he will promptly return your 50c.

The shifting of the sitting of the supreme war council from Paris to Versailles indicates that the official and possibly the final phase of the momentous sitting of the entente representatives which has been going on for some days has been reached.

TWO FORMER PRESIDENTS APPEAL FOR JUSTICE

Two former presidents, Colonel Roosevelt and William H. Taft, unite in a remarkable and justified appeal to the voters of the United States, one that would never have been written or necessary except for the astounding departure that President Wilson took last Friday from anything that has ever been undertaken by any American executive. No such attempt to act as a partisan political sponsor and to dictate to the people the complexion of the congress that they shall choose in the forthcoming election, has ever before been made by a president. It was a clear discrediting of the patriotism of every citizen not affiliated with the democratic party, and indeed of every citizen who may show the slightest hesitation in putting all matters concerning both war and peace under the control of Mr. Wilson himself. The appeal of the president, as has been said, was one for a rubber-stamp congress.

Messrs. Roosevelt and Taft, in the first statement ever collaborated and signed by two former presidents, make a clear resume of all the existing conditions, showing how necessary to success in war-winning measures has been the assistance given to the president by the republicans in both houses of congress, and showing also why it is of the utmost importance to the people of the United States, both as to the making of a just peace and of a right preparation for that peace, that the appeal of President Wilson should be disregarded and that all republicans should stand together for the election of a congress representing the great majority of the people—a republican congress.

REMEMBER THE GOB, I. E., SAILOR

When preparing your Christmas boxes for men in the service, remember:

Christmas boxes for men in active service in the Navy must be mailed earlier than those intended for the Army in France. Navy boxes must arrive at the Fleet Supply Base in New York not later than November 15th. Full consideration should be taken of delays due to congestion, so send your boxes now.

Navy packages by mail may be of any size and number, so long as they comply with the postal regulations. If sent by express, boxes must not weigh more than twenty pounds each, nor contain more than two cubic feet of space. All should be hinged or screw top boxes to make inspection easy.

The full name, rating or rank, and the designation of vessel, station or base to which the man is attached must be put on each package. Boxes should be sent care of the Supply Officer, Fleet Supply Base, Twenty-ninth street and Third avenue, Bush Terminal Station, Brooklyn, N. Y.

No perishable food product, except if be inclosed in a tin or a glass container should be packed, and no article on the prohibited list, such as liquor or inflammable material, may be sent.

Marines whose addresses are A. E. F. will be subject to the Christmas regulations applicable to the Army, while all others will be subject to the Navy regulations.

While you are remembering the sailor, don't forget that Christmas boxes for soldiers must be mailed on or before Nov. 20. Don't wait until the last day.

At the present writing it is hard to tell from the headlines whether the allies or the revolutionists will win—first. One of the two is going to lay European autocracy away, cold and stiff, for all time, very shortly.

ROAD BOND

NO COUNTY TAX TO RAISE
IN THE YEAR OF 1919!
(By L. B. Neighbour, Co. Supt. of Highways.)

Suppose that all at once we people of Lee county should learn that by prompt action, to be taken at next Tuesday's election, it were going to be possible to properly manage the business of the county, next year, without raising the usual tax! This tax for a number of years now, has run around $100,000. The situation simply required a favorable vote on some proposed measure, and then we could cancel the levy now made and to be collected next March. It was only necessary that we vote right ourselves, and that we explain the matter to our neighbor and get him to vote right also.

Would the voters of Lee county get busy?

Well, now, how much different is it, as regards the welfare of Lee county—this Road Bond measure on which we are called to vote? If the proposition carries in the state as a whole, we are assured it means a rebate to each county of all the money invested by it, under the Tice law, on those roads included and to be taken over in the 4,800-mile connected, state-wide system.

In this matter Lee county is remarkably situated. Its investments already made in roads of this system are over, rather than under, $100,000. Jointly with the state the county has built the concrete road in the Leake neighborhood, the tarvia road southeast out of Dixon, the brick road at the top of Lord's hill, and the gravel road north out of Amboy. The first three stretches of road named are surely within the proposed state-wide system, while the last may or may not be. But the first three alone represent a Lee county expenditure of from $30,000 to $40,000.

Moreover the county has voted $71,000, has half of it in the treasury waiting, and is levying and collecting the rest, to co-operate in the federal-aid project of completing the Lincoln Highway across the state.

If the people of Illinois then vote the Bonds, enabling the state to take over the system of roads proposed, Lee county stands to receive a Christmas present well equal to the sum that would finance the county a year.

This money will go out into the county elsewhere, for the construction of roads badly needed and not included in the state-wide system.

When has Lee county had such an offer before? To have the roads that our money has helped build, and then to have it returned to us, for the construction of others needed just as badly!

NEWSPAPERS GUESS
ARMISTICE TERMS

VERSAILLES, WAR COUNCIL
SEAT, SURCHARGED WITH EXCITEMENT.

Paris, Oct. 31.—The chiefs and other representatives of the allied governments, like Col. House, having held preliminary meetings in Paris, are deliberating this afternoon, according to the Temps, at Versailles, the seat of the interallied council.

One Paper's Terms.

In an editorial discussing armistice terms L'Information suggests the following conditions:

"Internationalization of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles.

"The occupation of enemy ports on the Adriatic.

"The surrender of Austrian warships.

"The right to use Austro-Hungarian railway lines.

"The evacuation of Alsace-Lorraine and territories wrongly occupied in the east and west.

"The surrender of arms, munitions and submarines.

"The occupation of fortresses and bridges along the Rhine and of Luxembourg and Essen.

"The occupation of Kiel and Hamburg.

"The removal of mines from territorial waters.

"The delivery, as a preliminary compensation for damages, of part of the enemy merchant marine.

"The cessation of manufacturing for war purposes."

Court at Versailles.

On the eve of the meeting of the supreme war council the atmosphere of Versailles is surcharged with the importance of pending events. The presence of numerous uniformed officials of the allied nations, with councillors, prime ministers, and persons of high estate, lends to the scene a dignity which reflects the nature of the colossal questions to be decided, directing the destiny of the new order of world politics.

Automobiles glide over the asphalt and cobblestone streets of France's pleasure ground of kings bearing world figures; some carry the highest army staffs in dazzling uniforms; others bear naval chiefs in their black uniforms, variegated with gold stripes in profusion and patterned according to their country's orders, while now and then limousines with distinguished civilians rush by claiming the right of way seemingly because of the high positions of the occupants in the world's affairs.

ILL OF INFLUENZA.

Mrs. Ward Hall and son, Howard, are ill with the influenza.

LONG HOLY PLACES

Shrines That Are Held in Veneration by Moslems.

All True Followers of Mahomet Eager
That Their Last Resting Place
Shall Be Near Those of Their Great Apostles.

Near to the resting place of the first great apostles of their faith it is the dearest wish of all pious Mohammedans to lie after death.

The shrines of Najaf, Kerbela and Kazimain, the resting places of Ali, Hussein, and the seventh and ninth Imams, lie on the edge of the desert in the country British troops now occupy in Mesopotamia.

One often meets a corpse on the road packed in a long crate or bundle of palm leaves and slung across the back of an ass, says Edmund Chandler, the press representative in the Mesopotamian forces. The pilgrim behind is taking his relative to swell the population of the cities of the dead by which these sanctuaries are surrounded.

Of the three shrines, Najaf is the richest, and to some minds the most sacred. Like Kazimain, it is approached by a horse car line. The cars are not of the pattern of those that ply in European cities. I believe the few British soldiers who have seen them rank them with the Clock tower in the mosque as first among the Hons of Mesopotamia.

In peace time the dead come from a wide radius. The donkey with the bundle like a big carpet bag on its back, draped in wattle or rich silk, according to the means of the pilgrim, may have come all the way from Bokhara. A few years ago a corpse arrived from the Persian embassy at Paris.

The rich as a rule are buried in the shrine itself. The fee for interment in the mosque is $250. For burial outside the walls of the city the pilgrim pays anything from four to ten rupees (two to five dollars), according to the distance he has come.

Many pilgrims buy houses in Najaf, and thus the place is gradually becoming a city of the dead. Nine houses out of ten have graves in them. Sometimes the building is nothing else than a tomb.

Najaf has proved impregnable to Wahhabis and Bedouins. It is believed to be fabulously rich. There are two stores of treasure. The old treasury has not been opened since the visit of Shar Nasir-ud-Din, 50 years ago. It is buried in a vault and built over with brick and lime, with no door or key or window by way of entrance. The new treasure is in the keeping of the khlidar—gold and silver, and jewels, and precious stones, silks, and shawls, and pearly curtains.

One of the first gifts for the shrines to reach Bagdad after our troops entered the city were four curved swords of gold, with diamonds on the sheath and hilt. They had been dispatched from Constantinople to Bagdad when the British menace was regarded as a madman's dream, and bore the inscription, "From the servant of all pious Moslems, Enver Bey."

No doubt they were intended to symbolize the might whereby the Turks would defend the city against their hated foes, the Christians.

Runs Her Own Canteen.

Mrs. Scott Lee, an aged negro woman, is happy because she has found a way at last to cheer the soldiers on their way as they pass through here en route from camp to coast for overseas service, according to an Ashtabula dispatch to the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mrs. Lee, who lives near a railroad track, looked wistfully at the troop trains as they sped through, wondering if there was any way in which she could make a long trip more pleasant for the men. But the trains went through so fast she almost despaired until she finally hit upon a scheme that works to perfection. She got a long pole, and to it she fastens bundles of magazines and lunches, and as the trains whiz past she stands on the station platform and reaches her gifts to the men as they lean from the car windows.

Carrier Pigeon Mystery.

The authorities of Albany, Ore., and everywhere else are trying to decipher this message:

"P-n-7-3-a-r-ll-w."

It was written on a piece of newspaper brought here by a strange carrier pigeon, which died very soon after it was found on the street.

The bird was identified as a species of California desert quail, not found in any part of Oregon save possibly in the southeastern portion. The bird refused food and water and was exhausted.

A piece of string which bound the message to the bird's leg was olive drab in color and might have been unraveled from an army uniform.

The Indian's Idea.

John Ratt, a full-blood Cherokee Indian of Cherokee county, Okla., being drawn in the draft of selected men, was sent to Camp Travis, Tex., for training. After he had been in camp for several days, he was hailed before the adjutant for failing to salute an officer, and gave the following explanation for his default: "Me live at Welling. When me meet man there maybeso speak to him one time. No speak any more to same man all day. Down here me salute it every time me pass it man."—Everybody's Magazine.

TURKEY GIVES ALLIES
CHANCE AT HUN FLEET

the allies were prepared to make a bargain with Turkey by which she would be left in possession of Armenia in return for a free passage of the Dardanelles to enable the allies to deal with the German controlled Black sea fleet. However, it is most probable that a free passage of the straits was demanded unconditionally.

Expect Naval Battle.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—Announcement from Paris and London that an armistice with Turkey, which permits passage of allied warships through the Dardanelles, already is in operation, led naval officers here to believe that an allied fleet, if it has not already started, soon will pass through to the Black sea to attack the German naval forces there.

The World's

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT SAW A U-BOAT SUNK

On the books of Troop No. 2 of Ridgefield Park, N. J., he is down as Tenderfoot Scout Richard N. J. Murphy. But it is now months since he has attended a troop meeting, and he says himself that he does not know when he will find time to take his second-class tests. For Scout Murphy has joined Uncle Sam's troop. His hiking ground is the Atlantic ocean, and he's engaged in the perilous business of carrying food across to the allies, in defiance of the U-boats.

"Been across often?" he was asked. "Seven times," he answered. "Any fights?" "Five." "And?" Dick Murphy gave his slow smile. "There's two U-boats that will never trouble a ship again," he said.

He is sixteen past—just a slip of a boy, with a twinkle of adventure in his eyes. Only yesterday, it seems, he was sharing a dog-tent on the overnight hikes of Troop No. 2, and now he is a veteran of service. He has stood his watch through the anxious, spray-lung hours of the night. He has heard the guns of war speak, and has felt the thrill and the tension of battle. Yet, when he comes home for a few days at the end of each dangerous trip, he is the same old Scout Murphy—passionately fond of ice cream sodas, ready for a frolic and a laugh, with his tarnished tenderfoot pin all the while fastened on the inside of his brass-buttoned coat that proclaims him a cadet of the American merchant marine.

BOY SCOUTS AND FIREARMS

The question as to the policy of the Boy Scouts of America with reference to the use of firearms and technical military training for boys of the scout age is apparently not clearly understood by some.

It should be remembered that the scouting program is primarily for boys in their teens. Boys are accepted as members of the Boy Scouts of America at twelve years of age. Indeed, the average age of enrolled scouts is from fifteen to fifteen and a half years.

The scheme of organization and method of carrying out the program are such as to make it necessary and more effective to have all scouts receive the same instruction and pass the same tests for tenderfoot, second-class and first-class degrees and the award of 58 different kinds of merit badges.

Great care has been taken to place emphasis in the scouting program upon things which are of fundamental importance and applicable and most helpful to the largest number of boys of scout age in developing them physically, mentally and morally and preparing them for the responsibilities of citizenship.

SCOUT MAY WEAR "SHORTS."

There never was a time when a boy wasn't interested in pants—whether they should be short or long. Just now the boy scouts have brought up the question of wearing "shorts," as the English scouts do, leaving the knees bare. One official says:

"We adopted shorts as the official camp dress, and I have been wearing them for six weeks myself. I am heartily in favor of making them the official scout 'breeches,' not only for summer but for winter also. I would like to see a more rigid standard set for the scout uniform, and my idea of what it should be is tan shoes, cotton or woolen stockings turned down below the knees, shorts, and scout shirt. Discard the coat altogether. Unless it is made to order it looks sloppy on anyone but a fat scout. It is a nuisance in summer and does not keep you warm in the winter."

SCOUTS AID POLICE FORCE.

Police Chief A. E. Bargren of Rockford, Ill., has sent this letter to a local scoutmaster:

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank you and the Rockford boy scouts for the good and efficient work performed by them during the celebration. Many words of praise have been spoken for their gentlemanly and patriotic behavior and for the untiring efforts set forth by each and every one of them in protecting the lives and property of our visitors and citizens.

"Personally, I have only words of praise for the boy scouts, and with the training they are receiving the future of our country cannot help to be even greater than it is today."

BOY SCOUT DOINGS.

Troop No. 1 of Ridgeway, Mo., helped install a "White City" playground for the children of that city. The paraphernalia was constructed at home by the boy scouts, who are donating their service and time.

Boy scouts of Bowling Green, Ky., all hold commissions as deputy police and have badges as such. They are requested to catch all worthless dogs in Bowling Green. They have already brought in a great number of dogs to the police station.

If you are reading The Telegraph to your soldier boy please look at your last receipt and find out to what date the paper is paid. The government orders that all newspapers must be paid for in advance.

Mrs. Dunlap, assistant home communication officer of the American Red Cross in London, has just been awarded the bronze medal of the French committee for soldiers blinded in the war. Mrs. Dunlap, whose home is in Washington, D. C., went to Europe in May, 1917, and worked in Paris with the blinded French soldiers at the Phare de France, where she was supervisor of instruction and re-education. She went to England last June to take up work with the home communication service of the Red Cross.

NO TAX ON HOMES OR FARMS FOR THE GOOD ROADS BONDS

By S. E. BRADT, State Superintendent of Highways.

WILL THE AUTOMOBILE FEES PAY THE COST OF THE BOND ISSUE SYSTEM OF ROADS? That is what both the Bond Issue Law and the Motor Vehicle Law provide. The former would not have passed the legislature nor would it have been signed by Governor Lowden if it had not made ample provision for payment of bonds and interest without a dollar of tax on farms, homes, or other property outside of motor vehicles. In order to assure sufficient funds the motor vehicle law was amended increasing the fees from 100 to 150 per cent and making the payment of the bonds a first lien on said fees.

Let us look at the figures. In 1917 the number of cars licensed was 340,232. The total collections by the secretary of state from automobile and kindred license fees were $1,583,834.69, an average for the year of $4.67 per car. The amendment to the motor vehicle law, applicable in 1920, increased the fees on cars from 10 to 35 H. P., 100 per cent; and on cars over 35 H. P., which includes the large touring cars and heavy motor trucks, 150 per cent. We can, therefore, safely estimate the average total collections from automobiles, trucks, etc., in 1920 at $10 per car.

The question then arises, how many cars must pay license fees each year to meet the bond and interest requirements? The bonds are to be issued in 20 annual series, but the construction period will cover five years; hence the bond payments will extend over a period of 25 years. Dividing the principal of $60,000,000 and the interest of $22,050,000, a total of $82,050,000, into 25 payments we have the average annual payment of $3,282,000, which will require a registration of 328,200 cars per year. It is therefore apparent that the cars registered in 1917 without any increase will yield more revenue than will be required to pay the bonds and interest.

Allowing the foregoing to be true, let us look at what will be the probable increase in registration. For the years 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1917, the increase each year was more than 30 per cent over the previous year. We do not anticipate a continuance of such a percentage of increase; but we do believe that a conservative estimate would be 10 per cent each year for the next six years. This would give us 600,000 cars by 1924 and would yield about $6,000,000 annually. The increase this year to September 10th is over 40,000 cars, or nearly 12 per cent in eight and one third months, even in face of war conditions. There is, therefore, no question but that the fees as now fixed by law will not only pay the bonds and interest, but will also provide a large sum additional for maintenance and for improving the connecting roads.

GOVERNOR LOWDEN URGES: "Vote the good roads bonds now; sell them and begin construction of the roads immediately after the war."

Ricker, 502 College Ave., says: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills every spring and fall as a preventive from any serious kidney trouble and they always do just as represented. Now and then my back aches and I notice my kidneys don't act regularly. Just as soon as I feel any of those symptoms coming on, I use Doan's Kidney Pills and they never fail to help me. VALUE OF BORDEAUX MIXTURE

No Substitute Known That Will Control Certain Common and Serious Diseases.

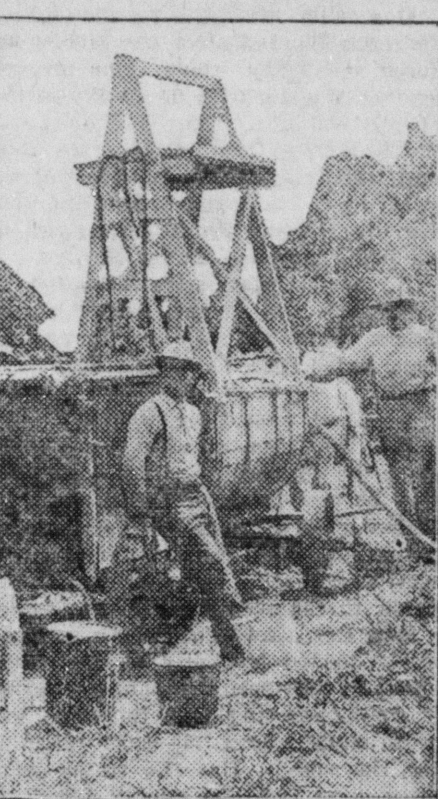

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

As a result of the present high price of copper sulphate, the principal active ingredient in bordeaux mixture, many farmers who are compelled to combat such diseases as late blight of potato, black rot of grape and bitter rot and blotch of apple are asking the United States department of agriculture, "What can we use as a substitute for bordeaux mixture?" There is no substitute, according to specialists of the department—bordeaux mixture is the only reliable preventive for such diseases. Methods of calculating the value of commercial bordeaux mixtures have, therefore, been published in Farmers' Bulletin 994, a copy of which can be obtained from the department at Washington.

Every package of commercial bordeaux mixture carries a label on which is given its content of copper. This is usually given in percentage, and by multiplying this percentage by 3.93 the result gives the amount of crystallized copper sulphate, the bulletin explains. If the percentage is given in terms of copper oxide, multiply by 3.14; if in copper hydroxide, multiply by 2.56. In order to calculate the copper sulphate when diluted ready for application, multiply the number of pounds of the concentrated bordeaux mixture to be added to 50 gallons of water by the percentage of copper sulphate.

Physical properties, such as adhesiveness, texture, spreading quality and rate of settling, also are important factors in determining the efficiency of bordeaux mixtures. A preparation containing a large amount of copper, but coarse and granular in texture, with poor spreading and sticking qualities, cannot be expected to give good results in cases where a good fungicide is required. To test the physical properties, dilute the mixture and place a small quantity in a glass tube, and watch the speed with which the solids settle to the bottom. If the copper is held in suspension for a great length of time the physical properties of the mixture may be regarded as good.

In order to reduce the cost of spray material some growers are using a weaker mixture than is commonly advised for the various diseases which require bordeaux treatment. When the disease attacks are mild a bordeaux mixture containing considerably less copper sulphate than is commonly advised may give very good control.

Gasoline-Power Spraying Outfit With Carpenter's-Horse Type of Tower and Rotary Pump Tank Filler.

provided its physical properties are good and it is thoroughly applied, the bulletin states. When infection is severe, weak mixtures should be avoided, for the resultant loss when they are used may much more than offset the amount saved by using the proper strength. Spraying is a question of insurance and the grower must decide whether he wishes to insure his crop wholly or only partially by the use of bordeaux mixture containing sufficient copper.

TRIM SMALL BERRY BUSHES

Old Canes of Raspberry and Blackberry Should Be Removed Right After Bearing Season.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Cut out all the old canes of raspberries upon which fruit has been borne during this season and burn them so as to destroy any diseases and insect eggs or immature insects on them. The old canes will die in a short time if left, but in the meantime will rob the new shoots of much nourishment. When the new shoots reach a height of three and one-half to four feet pinch out or cut off the growing tip to cause the shoots to branch. Cut out also all of the weak shoots, leaving only the strong ones.

Give blackberry bushes the same treatment.

GOOD ROADS—

AN ESSENTIAL

By George Ade.

Good roads cost money, but show me a community which has invested in hard roads, such as can be used at all times of the year, and which now would be willing to go back to the mud-holes for a cash consideration!

Over here in Indiana we have built our stone and gravel roads by local taxation and the further we have gone with our plans, the more weak and paltry has become the opposition.

We don't think that we are any more alert and intelligent than our neighbors over in Illinois and our land has no greater intrinsic value and so it has been a seven days wonder to us that Illinois was so laggard in building good roads.

There is only one side to the proposition on which Illinois is about to vote. The arguments against good roads do not exist. Muddy highways are now as much out of date as ox-teams and homespun garments and tallow dips. If any man in Illinois is now opposing good roads, he has better keep the fact quiet—that is, if he wants his grandchildren to respect him 25 years from now.

Glaciers.

Glaciers are rivers of snow compacted by pressure into ice, which move slowly from higher to lower levels. In tropical and temperate climates glaciers are found only on very high mountains, but at the poles whole continents and islands are entirely or partially covered by them. Their distribution is very extensive—from Greenland, which is almost entirely covered by them, through parts of North and South America and in Europe and Asia, to the Antarctic, which is supposed to be one great sheet of ice 10,000 feet in thickness.

Dan Kelly's Excuse.

Dan Kelly, arrested on a misdemeanor charge, narrowly escaped facing an additional charge of contempt of court when he was found asleep standing up in the court room. Kelly, who has only one natural leg to stand on, the other being of seasoned oak, explained to the court that for years he has suffered from asthma and has long been accustomed to use his wooden leg for a prop, and sleep standing up. He said he had become so accustomed to this position for slumbering that he forgot he was in the court room.—Marysville, Cal., Item.

Famous Geysers.

The most famous geysers in the world are those of Iceland, which number over a hundred, the principal one having an opening of 70 feet in diameter and discharging a column of water to a height of 200 feet. There are also wonderful geysers in the Yellowstone park region of the United States, and some in New Zealand. Geysers are hot springs of volcanic origin and action, and are remarkable for the fact that they throw out great streams of boiling water and steam, instead of lava, as in the case of a volcano.

POINTS TO REMEMBER WHEN BUYING REAL ESTATE

1st.—See that the neighborhood and surroundings are good, and that transportation to it is satisfactory.

2nd.—Insist that the seller furnishes you with an Abstract of Title.

3rd.—If the seller can't furnish an abstract showing a good title, do not buy. Large investors, like Hetty Green and Silo Tompkins, require this, and you should insist upon receiving the same.

4th.—If you are "trading" properties, see that the other fellow hasn't inflated the price of his property so that he gets yours for nothing.

This is mighty important, for a couple of trades of this kind would put the other fellow in a gilded chariot and you in the County Home.

5th.—Have the property conveyed to yourself and wife by JOINT TENANCY DEED; then if either of you die, the survivor will own the property without the trouble and expense of going thru the Probate Court.

Go to any good lawyer and he will see to it that you receive the above, and that the hired girl doesn't get the property.

COULDN'T FOOL HIM

Employer Had Read Detective
Stories to Advantage.

Why Mr. Petty, With Other Members of the Office Force, Regretted
Their Choice of Birthday
Present for the Boss.

Mr. Petty hurried into the office an hour later than usual and was relieved to find that his employer was late also. "Pretty good!" laughed Mr. Petty to his assistant. "He will never know that I was late."

When the head of the firm came in he scrutinized Mr. Petty long and closely, then leaned casually against the desk.

"Your session at the bowling alley was prolonged last night," he began. "How do you know?" asked Mr. Petty, opening his eyes very wide.

"I infer it from your stiff manner of handling the ledger this morning," replied the head of the firm severely. "You exerted yourself more than usual on the alleys. At breakfast this morning you were so drowsy from want of sleep that you dozed over your morning paper."

"So I did," admitted Mr. Petty, uncomfortably.

"I know it was at breakfast, because there is egg and coffee on the paper," frowned the head of the firm. "And while you were asleep your little six-year-old son climb into your lap."

"Yes, he did," gasped Mr. Petty. "But—"

"How do I know?" interrupted the head of the firm. "I know because your collar is written over in a child's scrawl. It is done in the peculiar shade of lead that you had in your gold lead pencil, which is usually in your left-hand vest pocket. It is not there now. I hope that the boy has not lost it."

Mr. Petty felt for his lead pencil. "It is gone," gasped Mr. Petty. "You were late to work this morning," went on the head of the firm, coldly. "I do not have to be told so, because you bought an evening edition of the paper at the subway station and it is an edition that does not come out until a late hour. I am very particular about the hours of work observed here."

As the head of the firm was finally disappearing into his private office Mr. Petty wiped the perspiration from his brow and remarked to the assistant:

"We were all against giving him a watch for his birthday because he is always watching the time, but we made a great mistake to give him the detective stories instead."

Enlists at 53; Says He's 39.

American Magazine has an article about "Foghorn" Macdonald, who enlisted as a private in the Canadian forces at fifty-three and is now a major at fifty-seven. The author of the article says:

"By canoe for 31 days through the wilderness, by an old tub of a leaky steamboat, by whatever means of travel he could find, including his own feet, he made his way back to Winnipeg, only to find that the troops had left. All right! A machine gun company was being formed and he applied for that."

"The recruiting officer was a friend of his, had helped celebrate Foghorn's fifty-third birthday the previous January. But when in making out the papers he came to the question, 'How old are you?' and Foghorn whipped out: 'Thirty-nine!' he never batted an eyelash."

"Before his official cronies at Ottawa knew it, Macdonald was on his way to England—a private at fifty-three! Two years later he was a major; the only man in the forces of the allies who has risen from the ranks to that grade in the present war."

Wartime Economy.

Mr. Benson went to New York to business, but lived in Brooklyn. Often he was not able to get home in time for dinner at night. He told his wife that he would phone her every day as to whether he could leave the office or not.

Mrs. Benson was of a very thrifty disposition, and the following was her solution of the problem: "Sam, if you find that you can't be home for dinner, phone me exactly six o'clock. If the telephone rings at that hour, I'll know it is you and that you are not coming for dinner. I won't answer it, and you'll get your nickel back."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Gloves From Whale Intestines.

The Norwegian state whaling stations have caught 200 whales, but expect to catch in all 500 during the summer. The stations have orders to take care of the intestines and salt them down, as it is the intention to make gloves of them. The material is fine in every respect, pliable, soft and exceptionally strong. The manufacture of gloves will probably be commenced at once.

Plenty of Color.

Several soldiers were standing on a street corner talking when a "loudly" dressed girl passed. One of them turned to his comrades and said: "Here, boys, salute the colors; there goes plenty of 'em."

New Phone System.

Barranquilla, Colombia, is to have a municipally owned and operated telephone system to replace the antiquated equipment now in use. There will be a demand for American supplies.

HOW SCIENCE PROVES GREAT ANTIQUITY OF DISEASE IN MANKIND.

The immense antiquity of disease is shown by scars and malformations on the fossilized remains of animals that lived hundreds of millions of years ago. Evidence would seem to indicate that living things did not suffer from disease until the carboniferous age, according to Prof. Roy L. Moodie, writing in the Scientific Monthly. In that period of rampant life, when the enormous quantities of vegetable matter were being deposited on the earth to become our coal beds, disease seemingly began its melancholy career. The oldest known evidences of pathological conditions among animals are to be found in the remains of a very primitive worm-like type of the coal age. During this age there was a widespread development of bacteria, which doubtless had its meaning in the origin of disease. Germ diseases are indicated; teeth of fossil fishes show evidences of gangrenous conditions.

The period immediately succeeding the carboniferous age was marked by the great development of huge and curious reptiles. Fossils of these reptiles show widespread disease conditions and give the first evidences of injuries as they prevailed among the early forms of life.

The prevalence of disease reached a height during the age of huge reptiles, and their extinction apparently brought about the disappearance of many diseases which attacked them.

At any rate, the incidence of diseases went down sharply with the disappearance of the reptiles and remained low until the rise of our own mammalian type, when it reached a very high point, which still continues.

We know from medieval history that diseases become extinct, and doubtless many of the maladies from which prehistoric animals suffered are now extinct, and many that we suffer from did not exist among them.

PREPARE FOR SALVAGE WORK

How British Government Is Protecting
Cargoes Sunk by Submarines
Near the Coast.

Experts employed by the British government have already been at work devising schemes for salvaging cargoes from sunken vessels round the coasts of the United Kingdom, France, and Belgium when the war is over.

Many thousands of tons of foodstuffs in hermetically sealed vessels are likely to be reclaimed with comparatively little difficulty. Tinned meats, preserved fruits, and concentrated foodstuffs in vast quantities will assuredly be salvaged. The British authorities have not been so remiss in anticipating the salvage of sunken cargoes as the public may imagine. Many commodities of an edible nature have been encased in tallow or white lead to withstand the action of the water. Most of the tea which has been arriving in that country for some time has been doubly secured against the action of salt water by means of double lead casings.

Why Trappers Will Be Idle.

Mining and fur trapping in Siberia this season has been practically stopped. Alaska miners and trappers who each summer go to the shores of Siberia from Nome have been barred from their usual occupations.

Nome is about 160 miles from the Siberian coast, and small American trade vessels in other years built up a thriving business on this route. This season, owing to uncertainty of economic and political conditions, there have been no expeditions to the Siberian side of the Bering sea.

Miners who have been on the Siberian coast predict that after the war the Russian territory will become a second Alaska as it is rich in metals and furs.

Why Big Guns Erode.

Prof. H. M. Howe draws attention to the fact that many points connected with the erosion of guns were rendered intelligible by a consideration of the iron-carbon diaphragm. It has long been known that the interior surfaces of a gun became hardened on firing, the effect being perceptible even after as few as five shots. Professor Howe believes that this hardened layer is not due to carbonization of the metal, but is merely a result of heat treatment. The liner of a 14-inch gun has been worn out by 170 shots, and therefore, the total effective working life of this gun was only about 3.4 seconds.—Scientific American.

How "Doughboys" Used Dubbin.

You can't blame the "doughboys," but when the quartermaster issued a concoction labeled "dubbin," they knew it was for something, but weren't quite sure what. Some of them used it for shampooing, while others rubbed it on their sore feet. The latest bulletin from headquarters says it is intended for greasing shoes "and should not under any circumstances be used as a foot grease or applied to the skin."

Some Extraordinary Names Are Occasionally Fastened Upon the Innocent Babies

What extraordinary names some people are compelled to bear or choose to assume! I hesitate to call them "Christian names," because they aren't Christian, very often. "Given names" is perhaps the better way of describing them. Perhaps you have heard of the Irishman assisting at a baptism, who, when he heard the godmother answer "Hazel" to the question as to the child's name, broke forth: "For the love av hiven; the whole calendar is full of the names of blessed female saints, and they do be callin' the baby after a nut!"

I thought of that when I looked through the catalogue of a girl's college the other day and noted these labels: Golde Mae, Eura, Arvilla, Kathryn, Elva, Melba, Izer, Neva, Ramona, Mabelle, Vida, Esta, Millis, Mayme, Mable, Arthetta, Lilyan, Bulah, Arbita, Narmie, Ara, Jonnie, Roxa, Zurelle, Zullene, Vanja, Mote, Corenea. It was a comfort to get back to Bridget and Margaret! Names are not arbitrary combinations of vowels and consonants; they have, or should have, significance, a historic setting, a personal and family relationship, that dignifies them.

To invent fantastic labels for pet dogs may be allowed; but human beings ought not to be put on that level. So, misspellings of familiar names, Christian or family, seem either undignified or ignorant, now when fixed spellings have been accepted. Can some one explain Ga Nun and U'Rell, both of which variants intrigue me?—Living Church.

THE FUTURE

What may we take into the vast future? That marble door
Admits no fruit of all our long endeavor,
No flame-wreathed crown we wore,
Nor garnered lore.

What can we bear beyond the unknown portal?
No gold, no gains
Of all our toiling life; in the life immortal
No hoarded wealth remains,
Nor glids, nor stains.

Naked from out that far abyss behind us
We entered here;
No word came with our coming, to remind us
What wondrous world was near,
No hope, no fear.

Into the silent, starless night before us,
Naked we glide;
No hand has mapped the constellations
o'er us,
No comrade at our side,
No chart, no guide.

Yet fearless toward that midnight, black
and hollow,
Our footsteps fare;
The beckoning of a Father's hand we follow—
His love alone is there,
No curse, no care.

—Edward Rowland Sill.

JESTS AND JINGLES

Partly Right.
"I don't like your heart action," the doctor said, applying the stethoscope again. "You have had some trouble with angina pectoris."

"You're partly right, doctor," said the young man, sheepishly, "only that ain't her name."

In the Dark.

"Your daughter, sir, has referred me to you."
"Well?"
"Can I have her?"
"I dunno. She hasn't given me any instructions, young man."

The Missing Link.

Alice (interrupting)—You were the missing link?

Dogs of War.
"Some of these war devices of the Prussians have proved clumsy."
"Yes. They were the sort of thing to be expected from a nation that regarded a dachshund as an improvement on a regular dog."

Easy Proposition.
"Whatever induced her to marry the man she did?"
"I think the principal inducement was because he asked her to."

A Father's Disappointment.
"That was a fine letter Josh wrote home," commented Mrs. Cornstossel. "Every line of it was jes' as grammatical as it could be."
"That's what worries me," replied her husband. "He has spoiled his style. I thought at first he was goin' to have a great future as one of these natural-born comical dialect writers."
